

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR

MAYOR: David H. Bieter

October 1, 2018

Dear Downtown Stakeholders,

The Central District urban renewal district in Downtown Boise's core will sunset after 30 years of successful rejuvenation that has created a vibrant and enviable place to work, live and do business.

With the sunset, the City of Boise will take over ownership and management of 8th Street (between Main and Bannock streets) and the Grove Plaza on Oct. 1. The Capital City Development Corporation (CCDC) will no longer be involved with the Central District area but will continue to manage downtown parking garages and other urban renewal districts around the city.

The City of Boise's goal is to provide a seamless transition for downtown tenants and events. For the past year, a City of Boise maintenance crew from the Parks and Recreation Department has overseen downtown maintenance. With the Central District sunset, other downtown services and responsibilities will also be taken over by the city.

Should you have questions, concerns, or feedback, please feel free to contact us. The people listed below are ready and waiting to answer any questions you have in their specific area of expertise.
